PREFACE.

THE design of the following Work is to furnish young persons with an easy Guide to Spelling, and to combine utility with cheapness.

As an additional help to ascertain the proper pronunciation of particular words, the equivocal sounds of the letters c, s, and g, are carefully distinguished in an easy and compendious method. Thus the learner will observe that the letter c, with this mark annexed to it, always bears a soft sound like the letter s, as in cell, (sell); and if marked thus, ‘c, it is sounded like ts, as in ‘chaff, (tshaff): s denotes the sound of z, as in wi’se (wise): ‘g represents the sound of j, as in ‘gem (jem); and ‘g has a similar sound.

When such marks are not affixed to these letters, they must be understood to retain their natural and more general sound, as in the words call, house, get. It must be observed likewise, that in words where h is printed in the Italic character, it is not aspirated; and wherever any other letter occurs in that character, its sound is dropped. A circumflex (ˆ) over a vowel denotes a long sound, as in oôlt.* Where difficulties of irregularities arise, which cannot be thus easily obviated, the scholar is referred to the bottom of the page for a correct pronunciation. The plan itself is doubtless extremely simple. But when the circumstances of those for whom it is professedly designed are considered, this simplicity itself will probably be esteemed a recommendation.

‡ The soft sound of g is here distinguished by a small j before the letter, thus jg, and the capital letters by a small g (εG), which obviates the necessity of any directions in the way of notes; and when pointed out properly to the young learner, will be equally intelligible. Without these distinctions the g must be considered as having a hard sound * as gay, gum.

A Comma , a Semicolon ; a Colon : a Period or Full Stop .
a Note of Interrogation ! a Note of Admiration !

An Apostrophe is used to shorten a word ; as, I'll, for I will.

A Brace is used to couple lines together, whether in poetry or prose ; as,

Religion only can our wants restrain,
The mind support beneath corporeal pain,
Make life more sweet, and death eternal gain. }
To a Year's Rent from Christmas, 1836, } to Christmas, 1837. }

A Caret is placed where a word is left out in writing ; as, mutual
Live in ^ love.

An Ellipsis supplies the place of a letter or letters in a word, when the writer does not choose to write the word at length ; as, J—ms T—ms—n, James Thomson.

Asterisks, * * * are sometimes used for the same purpose.

An Hyphen is used to part Syllables ; as, Ab-ba.

A Parenthesis serves to include a sentence in the body of another ; as, This act of cruelty (for such it certainly was) is almost the only stain in the character of, &c.

A Quotation " signifies the words so marked are transcribed from the writings of another in his own words. The end of a Quotation is marked thus, " and shows that the passage quoted is finished.

Single Accent denotes the stress to be laid upon a particular syllable in a word.

Double Accent serves to mark a short sound in a syllable.

Crotchets inclose short sentences or references, that have no connection with the subject treated of.

An Asterisk, }
An Index, } Are all used as references to the bottom of An Obelisk, & } the page or margin of a book. Figures, also,
A Parallel, } as, 1, 2, 3, &c. are used in like manner, and have, in general, the same signification.

N. B. A Paragraph ¶ and Section § are not always used like the other marks, as references to the margin or bottom of a page. They are chiefly used to mark the divisions and separate heads of a discourse. The former character is to be met with in many parts of the Old and New Testament ; and in Locke's Essay this mark § is prefixed to the Sections of the discourse.

Contractions used in Writing and Print; (but it must be remembered, that, except in Addresses and Accompts, such Contractions in the body of a letter are improper.)
